The Coming Election.....Dr. D. F. Bassler

At the coming election the Democrats and Lincoln Republicans should stand by the ticket nominated by the former and endorsed by the latter.

It was fusion that took the country from Reynolds in 1894 by more than 700; it was the same movement that gave the country to Barry last fall and placed a number of officers in the county.

"Saldie Spalding possesses a remarkably sweet and perfectly modulated contralto voice and her numbers very greatly delighted everyone."

—A. J. Penwell.

A. J. Penwell, a respected citizen of Monroe town, died suddenly at his home near Rock Hill church on January 29, 1906, aged 72 years, five months and nine days. He was survived by five children, namely, Samuel Penwell, and Mrs. Mary Horner, of Monroe township, Pittsburg, and John and Howard Penwell, at home.

Monroe and "Farm" are always popular singing places with the various groups of young people. The helping hope to earn a sum of money to give toward repairs to some of the church property.

Musical Entertainment.

There will be a musical entertainment at St. John's Reformed church in the Sunday school room next Thursday evening, February 15, at 8 o'clock.

Admission 15 cents; children 10 cents.

The program being arranged is so bright and entertaining as to be considered worth the admission fee to our audience.

Besides a chorus, recitations and songs, there will be some of the old time fun review in character song "Johnny Smoker" by eight boys; and "Now Moses" and "Hallelujah, Ma, and I" by the various groups of young people. There is also a group of young people who have helped hope to earn a sum of money to give toward repairs to some of the church property.

The Coming Election.

Now we just the ground already gained?

Several weeks of the special session

LEGISLATURE's

and one bill was at the end of last week, in the hands of the governor. One measure in three weeks! There was little dissent on the bill passed, the Philadelphia Ripper Bill repealer. At this rate of traveling they will not get far in the task of undoing the work of the last session. So far they have been making haste slowly, and are to be commended for passing the Repealer.

"It is an ill wind that blows nobody good" is an adage old and true. That

DURHAM IN CALIFORNIA

Israel W. Durham,

the "One Political Star," who was recently ousted from the office of insurance commissioner should be ill at this time is fortunate for him. This has been a mild winter in Pennsylvania but his physician thought it best for him to go to California to regain his health. It is a strange coincidence that he should become ill just at the time that he was wanted before the investigating committee to testify in the matter of the insurance department.

He has been the central figure in the department and knows all about the graft. It, as is asserted, he knows nothing of the investigation, he will no doubt improve rapidly under climatic conditions along the Pacific. Viewing this from all sides one is disposed to ask why he didn't go to the example of others engaged in like business and go to Canada.

The investigation of the insurance department has brought out facts that would make good men hold up their hands in holy horror in any other state, but the people of Pennsylvania have been "schooling"; they're prepared for anything. It has been brought out that "dummies" have received checks for no services whatever, which of course went into the hands of men who had done service for the machine. One of the witnesses called testified that he had done much for the party (gas) and went to Durham and told him so and as a result received an appointment in the department and his checks came regularly. When he was asked if he was not on the jury that acquitted the notorious bullock-stuffer, Sam Salter, he replied that he was.

Hereby hangs a tale. Of course he stoutly protested that his receiving an appointment had nothing to do with his attitude as a juror in the Salter trial. It is not difficult to read between the lines the story of Pennsylvania's shame and disgrace. The machine was in control not only of the law-making but the judicial department of Philadelphia's government. Ward leaders were required to furnish juries "made to order."

There is much dis-

THAT cushion throughout

QUAY STATUE

the state as to the QUESTION. Quay statute. Shall it be enacted at all? When shall it be done? Where shall it be placed? All these questions are being asked and commented upon.

Many of those who but a short time ago were enthusiastic for the erection of the statue to the memory of the "Old Man" are now weakening. It is argued by some that an outraged people would not allow it to stand on the capitol grounds. Friends of the project, still loyal to the departed chief, advocate placing it in the capitol beneath the dome. These are questions to be decided later but in the meantime some other matters connected therewith might be considered.

Suggestions have already been made as to the inscription and it may not now be out of place to discuss another phase of the question—what should be put in the cornerstone? The time-honored custom of placing paper, coins, etc. in one of the base stones of public buildings and monuments need not be deviated from in this case. It should contain a well-shaken plum tree—a public tree denuded of its foliage by the hand of a political despoiler; a copy of his famous note, "Dear Baier, don't talk"; a copy of the court proceedings in the case in which he plead guilt and thereby saved himself from the penitentiary; a few pieces of the money sent to this county during one campaign for which he received no return because when the matter of electing a United States senator came up the representative of this district had "scruples"—to take a seat out to the point, THE GAZETTE regrets that his whole public record cannot be secreted in the vault in the cold marble and thereby hidden from the gaze of coming generations.

JAMES R. KEENE

Shared by the Why Editor of Town

Topics—the Higgod Verdict—the Death of Gen. Wheeler.

Special Correspondence to THE GAZETTE

New York, February 6.—The most unpleasant and disagreeable series of last week was the Higgod-Verdict, which brought into disgraceful prominence quite a large number of people who must feel heartily ashamed to see their names published in contributing scandalous articles to papers of the character of Town Topics and Fads and Fancies.

There are names on the list of contributors and subscribers that one would hardly expect to find in such disreputable company; James R. Keene was king of the San Francisco stock market at a period of the wildest excitement that the Golden State had ever known; "Consolidated Virginia," had suddenly jumped from $12 to $600 and began to pay a dividend of two per cent. a month on an enormous discovery. The big bo-nz was struck and California went wild at the news; men sold houses and lands for hundreds of dollars that were worth thousands, anxious to get a share in the magic stock that was to make them all millionaires; James R.

Keene for months played battleship and shuttlecock with colossal fortunes; while hundreds were ruined, he piled up gold and silver stocks and bonds and it became a legend in the city of San Francisco when there was nothing else to do but to buy and sell.

James R. Keene had crossed swords with Jay Gould and in a deal with him he was defeated; he was a little easier with Gould than he was with the rest of the world.

James R. Keene was an amateur at chess and had a good game.
